ADVENTURE GUIDE MOYO ISLAND

Moyo Island is located approximately eight degrees south of the equator, within the regency of Nusa Tenggara Barat. The island has been a nature reserve since 1976. Measuring forty kilometres by ten kilometres, Moyo's highest point is 600 meters above the Flores Sea. The total area of the island is 36,000 hectares.

Along the coastline are eight villages, with a combined population of approximately 3,500 people. Fishing, farming and trading is the subsistence of the villagers.

The tropical climate provides a year round temperature of 27-30°C and a consistent water temperature of around 28°C. There are two distinct seasons. The monsoon or wet season is from December to March and the dry season from April to November.

The vegetation on the island ranges from savannah to dense jungle. The savannah land dominates the plateaus and the jungle the remaining areas. Many varieties of trees are found on the island, such as native teak, tamarind, fig, coral and banyan. Animal species include rusa deer, banteng or wild buffalo, boar, monkeys and a wide variety of bats. The white-breasted sea eagle, barmity kite, osprey, yellow oriole, megapode and other species of wild birds can be found on the island.

The Flores Sea presents many varieties of coral. Stag horn, gorgonian fans, sponges and plate coral can all be found in Amanwana Bay and marine life is plentiful. Frequently observed are hawksbill and green turtles, moray eels, lobsters, parrot fish, blue spotted rays, lion fish, barracuda and small reef sharks. Occasionally dolphins, giant manta rays and whales can also be seen.

Please remember that Amanwana Bay is a marine reserve and therefore all coral, shells and marine life are protected. We ask for your assistance in protecting our underwater park. Please do not remove anything from the water and take care not to damage the reef whilst swimming and snorkelling.

Please note that we add an additional IDR 50,000 per person per day to all chargeable activities booked. This goes into the Moyo Conservation Fund and is directly used to support turtle nesting, the rusa deer breeding program and our local village projects. If you do not wish to contribute this additional money towards the fund, please inform the front desk and we will happily remove it from your bill.

It is surrounded by a fringing reef that supports some of the most amazing soft corals in the area. Whilst schools of reef fish, lobsters, moray eels, turtles and nudibranchs are plentiful, keep one eye open on the flat sandy bottom for the large rays that often cruise by. This day excursion is also excellent for the non-diver, as the reefs are very shallow and perfect for snorkelling. In between dives you can kayak on the lake and have a picnic lunch either on board or on the beach.
